NOTICE.

According to the history, of the discovery of America by the Northneen, in the tenth cen-tury, published by the Antiquarian Society of Copenhagen, a verse was written on the soil of Ma-sachusetts—Vinland—by one of the pagent Massachusette—Vinland—by one of the jagger pirates of Norway, six hundred years before the Pflgrim composed his Lullaby. The poets name was Thorhall, and he had been induced to join the crew of Eric the Red, on their secand trip lather, by promises of ahundance of geopse and wine, which the country was supposed to produce, and from which circumstance it was named. They arrived, however, out of season for grapes, and the disappointed votary of Bolder, the Scandinavian Brechus, while bringing water one day from a distant spring, thus vented his sorrow in song :

"I left the shores of Ericsford To seek, O cursed Violand, thine, Each warrier pledging there his word That we should be qualf choicest wine. Great Olin, Warrier God, see Just These water palls I carry now 2 No wine my lips have touched, but low At humblest formain I must bow,"

At the consucipation meeting last night Senator all-trap presented for consideration, the bill for the Eurancipation of slaves in Miscouri, Section 1st ccepts the Presidents proclamation to Congress for aupensated engacipation of slaves. Second and third create a fund for entancipation consisting of a congressional appropriation with such provisions is the state may make and two per cent tax on layes. Sections fifth and sixth provide that those loyal owners who consent to Emmeipate their dayes shall file their consent with the county Clerk on or before the forath of July 1862 and after proper returns are made to the state officer variants shall be issued by the proper state officer for full value-that value being fixed by the apmaisement of a Commissoner, appointed for that surface.

Section eighth provides that the Commissioner, hall make out after the fourth of July 1864 a list of slave owners who have not filed their consent to the cmandipation warrants to be issued to them for their slaves who shall thereafter be free.

Section winth provides for the freedom of the dayes as fast as the warrants are issued for them. Sections 14th and 15th provide for the apprenticeship of the freed slaves year by pear to their former owners as far as practicable - all slavery to terminate in 1864 and the inducement is great to dorish the institution in 1860. The bill does not provide for any freedom without payment except those of conners who have forfeited a their claim under the configuation act or may be convicted of treason. Considerable discussion ensued but the ubstantial features of the bill met with approval, Senator Van Horn submitted a proposition that we will connecipate at all events and in respect to value we will out according to our cloth and it Congresa make no apprepration we will devise ome scheme to kill slavery in time.
